JOINT BRIEF SUMMARY OF CASE TO BE READ BY THE COURT TO THE SEATED JURY BEFORE OPENING STATEMENTS

Plaintiffs, Noujoud Achkar and Joseph Achkar claim that Noujoud Achkar consumed La Morenita Queso Fresco brand soft cheese that was manufactured by the Defendant, Wisconsin Cheese Group, L.L.C. and sold to her by the Defendant Wal Mart. The plaintiffs, Noujoud Achkar and Joseph Achkar further claim that as a direct result of consuming the La Morenita Queso Fresco brand soft cheese that she was exposed to Listeria bacteria contained in the cheese and that she developed invasive listeriosis necessitating a lengthy hospital stay. The Plaintiffs, Noujoud Achkar and Joseph Achkar further claim that they have been harmed by this exposure.

Defendant Wisconsin Cheese Group, LLC denies those claims and also contends that the cheese consumed by Plaintiff, Noujoud Achkar was not defective or contaminated with Listeria bacteria at the time it was manufactured, distributed and sold by Wisconsin Cheese Group, LLC. Further, that Noujoud Achkar became ill after exposure to another source other than the cheese manufactured, distributed and sold by Wisconsin Cheese Group, LLC. Lastly, Wisconsin Cheese Group, LLC's defense is that Mrs. Achkar's claims she became ill with invasive listeriosis within one hour of ingesting the cheese is not valid.

Defendant Walmart, Inc. also denies those claims. First, Defendant Walmart, Inc. denies that it sold the cheese to Plaintiff. Defendant Walmart, Inc. further contends that if it is proven that Walmart sold the subject cheese, the cheese consumed by Plaintiff, Noujoud Achkar was not defective or contaminated with Listeria bacteria at the time it was sold by Walmart, Inc.. Further, Walmart contends that Noujoud Achkar became ill after exposure to another source other than the cheese sold by Walmart, Inc.

I will give you detailed instructions on the law at the end of the case, and those instructions will control your deliberations and decision. But in order to help you follow the evidence, I will now give you a brief summary of the elements that Plaintiffs, Noujoud Achkar and Joseph Achkar must prove to make their case:

- 1) That the cheese was defective: A product is defective if at the time it left the Defendants' control that it lacked any element necessary to make it safe for its intended use or contained any condition that made it unsafe for its intended use ; and,
- 2) That the cheese reached the consumer, Noujoud Achkar, without substantial change in the condition in which it was sold; and,
- 3) That the defect caused injuries, pain and suffering to the Plaintiffs, Noujoud Achkar and Joseph Achkar.
